

Sumter, South Carolina

Further points of interest...

General Thomas Sumter Memorial Park, Acton Road, Stateburg. Family burial ground of the last surviving general of the American Revolution, for whom the city and county of Sumter are named.

Church of the Holy Cross, Hwy. 261, Stateburg. Final resting place of General Mabry and other soldiers dating back to the American Revolution.

Battle of Dingle's Mill Memorial, US Highway 15 South. Commemorates the final campaign of the Civil War.

Sumter Cemetery, West Oakland Avenue, Sumter. Contains many gravesites of note, including that of George Edward Haynsworth, who fired the first shot of the Civil War.

For more information, please call the Swan Lake Visitors Center at (803) 436-2640 or toll-free at 1-800-688-4748, or visit us online at www.sumtourtourism.com.

In honor of those who made the ultimate sacrifice...

Sumter, South Carolina has a long and proud tradition of military service. In every conflict, from the American Revolution to Operation Iraqi Freedom, our community has been represented by those brave souls who paid the ultimate price for our freedom. Monuments to those who fought for the American way are located throughout the community.

Maj. Gen. George L. Mabry Jr. Memorial Park

Stateburg native Major General George L. Mabry, Jr. (US Army) received the Congressional Medal of Honor for his actions during WWII. A fitting tribute to this outstanding member of "the greatest generation," the park was dedicated in 1990.

The monument features four panels inscribed with the names of Sumter County residents of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines who were lost in battle in every American conflict from World War I through Operation Iraqi Freedom.

Location: U.S. Hwy. 76 Westbound, alongside Shaw Air Force Base.

Civil War Monument

Erected by the Women of Sumter District in Honor of the Confederate dead. Located on North Washington Street near the intersection of West Liberty Street.

World War II

Located on the Sumter County Courthouse lawn, 141 North Main Street.

World War I

Dedicated in 1919, located at Memorial Park, corner of Hampton Street and Park Avenue.

Vietnam War

Erected in 1974 by the citizens of the Sumter community. Located on North Magnolia Street at the end of the driveway loop next to Family Court.